AS USUAL—AUTO ACCIDENT

Mr. Elbert Rose, Misses Lona and Christine McCord, of Paris, and Miss Ethel Biddle, of Newtown, Scott county, were victims of an automobile accident near Georgetown, Friday afternoon, in which Mr. Rose was the chief sufferer.

The party had been visiting Miss Biddle at her home near Georgetown, and had started home to take their hostess with them as far as Georgetown. It is said that the machine was going at a very careful rate of speed when suddenly the driver lost control. The machine was overturned, Mr. Rose being pinned underneath the car, and the other occupants being thrown to the ground, sustaining minor bruises. Mr. Rose was picked up by passers by and hurried to the Ford Hospital, at Georgetown, where he was given medical attention. The other members of the party were removed to their homes. The damaged machine was brought to a local garage for repairs. Mr. Rose is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Rose, of Nineteenth street.

A local garage man stated Sunday morning that he had heard of fourteen accidents occurring between Paris and Lexington Saturday night. No one was seriously injured, and there were no fatalities. The machines in most cases were overturned through reckless driving on the part of the drivers, who had been attending the obsequies of John Barleycorn at Lexington, and in no case was there a really serious accident, as might have resulted from a collision. In several instances the contents of the machines, several quarts of "juice" sustained the severest loss, or the owners thereof did. It was reported that the largest number of machines ever seen on the Lexington pike, were noticed on Saturday afternoon and night. Not all joy-riding, but for the most part bound to and from the home of the now-deposed monarch, John Barleycorn, at Lexington.

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF BOURBON COUNTY.

I have been solicited by numerous tax-payers of Bourbon county to become a candidate for the State Legislature. It has been presented to me that I should continue my efforts to adjust the tax laws of the State that I began more than two years ago. I cannot deny the force of this appeal.

The opportunity has now come when it is possible to do more effective work as a representative of this county, which I realize enlarges the opportunity for service.

While I consider it an honor to represent Bourbon county in the Legislature, this is not the true incentive in seeking the office. I have always taken a great interest in public affairs, but have never sought public office. It is not now my desire to enter into a contest with any friend or neighbor. I realize, however, that this county should send a representative to the Legislature who has property interests in common with the large majority of its citizens.

The tax question is not a political one in any sense. For that reason I think all citizens, regardless of political affiliation, should desire an equitable adjustment of the law.

With an abiding faith in the judgment of the citizens of this county, I submit my candidacy for approval. If I am selected as your representative, I shall strive honestly to protect the interests of the county in every way.

Most respectfully,

JAS. H. THOMPSON.

BANQUET BY EASTERN STAR ORDER.

Everybody going—where to? Banquet to be given by the O. E. S. in the Masonic Hall, at 8 o'clock, sharp, on the night of Thursday, July 3. What are we going to have to eat—fried chicken, old ham, salad, home-made cake and cream. Well, it is just hard to tell just what we will have as the ladies of Paris Chapter seem to know just what everybody likes.

So, dear Stars, don't fail to be present. We will have music and six "strangers," who are anxious to enter our mysterious gates, so be present and lend up a helping hand.
MAMIE WAGONER, Sec't.

SIGNING OF PEACE PACT OFFICIALLY ENDS WORLD WAR.

The world war was formerly ended by the signing of the peace treaty with Germany, at Versailles, in France, at 3:14 o'clock, Saturday morning.

The epochal meeting in the Hall of Mirrors began at 3:10 o'clock and the German delegates, the first to sign, affixed their signatures at 3:13 o'clock.

They were followed by the American delegates, headed by President Wilson, and then by the plenipotentiaries of Great Britain and France, Italy and Japan. The representatives of minor powers signed in alphabetic order.

China's delegates did not attend the session, declining to sign the treaty, because they were not permitted to make reservations.

Signing of the peace treaty was begun at 10:30 o'clock, Washington time. The official report to the State department said President Wilson signed at 3:14 o'clock, Paris time.

All the American delegation had finished signing at 3:15, immediately after President Wilson, the official report said.

President Wilson and the American delegation completed signing the peace treaty at 3:14 o'clock, Paris time. It also was signed by Dr. Herman Muller at 3:12 and Dr. Johannes Bell at 3:13 for the Germans. The American delegation signed in this order: Secretary Lansing, Henry White, Colonel House and General Bliss.

The other delegations headed by the British signed after the Americans in the order set forth in the treaty.

Premier Clemenceau put the direct question to the Germans whether they were willing to sign and execute loyally all the terms. The other delegates did not arise when the Germans came into the hall.

General Jan Christian Smuts, one of the delegates representing the union of South Africa, signed the treaty under protest. He objected to certain territorial settlements, making a lengthy statement.

General Smuts said that the indemnities stipulated could not be accepted without grave injury to the industrial revival of Europe. He declared it would be to the interest of the allied powers to render the stipulations more tolerable and moderate.

At 3:44 o'clock cannon began to boom announcing the completion of the ceremony of signing. The signatures had not, however, as a matter of fact then been completed, for at that time the smaller nations were still signing in alphabetic order. The proceedings were formally closed at 3:49 o'clock.

In this city, in response to the suggestion made in a proclamation issued by Gov. Black, the ringing of bells and other joyful demonstrations, signalled the receipt of official news attesting the signing of the peace pact. The citizens congratulated each other on the streets. THE NEWS office telephones were kept busy answering inquiries from people residing near Paris as to the cause of the bells ringing.

The Allied note to the German delegation dealing with ratification of the treaty by Germany was delivered late Friday afternoon. It is pointed out in the note, among other things, that withdrawal of the blockade of Germany depends on ratification of the treaty.

The pan-American Deutsche Zeitung, of Berlin, prints the following across its front page:

"German honor to-day will be carried to its grave in the Hall of Mirrors, in which, in the glorious days of '71 the German Empire was resurrected in all its former splendor. Let us forget! In restless labor the German people will again strive to attain that place among the nations of the world to which it is entitled. Then vengeance for the disgrace of 1919!"

The Tagblatt says: "The German people reject the treaty which its delegates are signing to-day, and it does not believe for a single moment that it will endure. Despite the fact that it is written on parchment, it remains a scrap of paper because it is a mockery of all the laws of reason and morals and the most disgraceful exhibit in the museum of civilization."

SOME FISHERMAN.

Mrs. Eliza Switzer, of Brooklyn, Ky., was fishing in Kentucky River when she got a pull that felt as if she had caught a whale. She had quite a struggle, but finally got it safe and found it was a 25-pound catfish. She took the big fish to Nicholasville and sold it for $5.

INTERESTING OIL NOTES

The Co-operating Land and Development Company is moving a rig to Bowling Green and expects to begin operations at once in the Western Kentucky field, where it has options and negotiations pending for a number of leases.

The Bourbon Oil & Development Company is down about 200 feet with its initial test well on Richland creek, in Johnson county. This well is on property recently leased by the Mutual Oil & Refining Company and which the Bourbon is operating.

Dr. F. P. Campbell, of this city, has purchased of Mr. Jesse Kennedy, representing the Twin Gusher Oil and Refining Company, an undivided one-half interest in a tract of oil land situated in the Tularosa Basin, in Texas and New Mexico, at a private price.

The Bourbon Oil & Development Co. drilled in a 35 to 50 barrel well on their Lewis Case lease in Elliott county last week. This lease adds another prosperous local oil company, The Little Banjo, which is drilling two wells and prospects are very bright, as their work is progressing nicely, and it is expected that they will bring in two nice wells in the near future.

Barracks, officers' quarters and hangars at Call Field will be used to house the oil boom crowds in Wichita Falls, Texas. "The most overcrowded city in the United States." A message from Washington said arrangements were completed to have the 150 planes at Call Field transferred and the property turned over to the city as temporary quarters. It is estimated that more than 1,000 persons can be housed on this field. Many families are now living in tents.

Meager reports reaching here from Elliott county are to the effect that the Bourbon Oil & Development Company has a new well in its Lewis lease, which is of more than usual interest because it indicates that a pool of value may have been located. This well is said to be in the Kenner land, which recently has furnished some good wells in Lawrence county, said to produce as high as 250 barrels. This is the Bourbon's third well in Elliott county. Its first one was drilled about a year ago, but has not been pumped, as there are no pipe line connections. This well is said to have several hundred feet of oil standing in it, and was thought to be in the Berea grit, but now the question has been raised whether it is in the Berea or the Keener. It is about the same depth as the new well, a little over 1,000 feet. The company's second well, which is on the Gibson lease, lower down Middle Fork Creek, was brought in recently in the Berea grit and after being shot is rated as a small producer. The Bourbon will drill two more wells in this section under its present contracts and if they turn out well the company expects to inaugurate an extensive drilling campaign in this county, as it is believed these developments will soon induce the laying of a pipe line to furnish a market for Elliott county production.

BANK MAKES GOOD SHOWING.

The statement of the Bourbon Agricultural Bank & Trust Co. is published elsewhere in this paper, showing condition of this bank at close of business June 30, 1919. This statement shows individual deposits amounting to $1,018,154.09, and assets of $1,603,816.73, with capital stock, surplus and undivided profits amounting to $345,627.10.

Three new directors have been elected to serve on the Board of this bank within the last six months, James L. Dodge, Samuel Clay and W. O. Hinton.

The business of the Bourbon Agricultural Bank & Trust Co. has shown a steady growth since the consolidation of the Bourbon Bank & Trust Co. and the Agricultural Bank in 1915, and deposits have increased more than $400,000.

THE DAM QUESTION IS AT LAST SETTLED.

A written contract has been signed by the city of Paris and Mr. B. M. Renick, president of the Paris Milling Company, regarding the construction of the new dam at or near the Milling Company's plant, and which will practically settle the much-disputed "dam" question. The contract makes the stipulations that the Paris Water Company is to pay half the cost of the new structure, and the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company one-third. This leaves the Paris Milling Company to pay one-sixth of the cost, less the sum of $460 to be paid by the city.

Yesterday a force of workmen, under the supervision of Louisville & Nashville engineers, began the preliminary work on the dam by sinking piling to hold back the refuse and to be the foundation for the false work which will be the superstructure of the new dam. The engineers have estimated that it will require six weeks to get the necessary supplies on the ground, tear out the old dam, and begin the construction of the new one, but that the real construction work can be completed in fifteen days.

MANAGER VEATCH RETURNS FROM CHICAGO CONVENTION.

Mr. J. J. Veatch, District Manager of the Central Home Telephone and Telegraph Co., has returned from a three-days' convention of the United States Independent Telephone Association, which was held at Hotel LaSalle, Chicago, and reports this one of the most interesting, and well-attended conventions ever held since the Independents entered the telephone industry.

Practically every State in the union was represented by several delegates and all of the important questions pertaining to the business was taken up and discussed by the very best talent of the country, with the main object in view, as to best methods to adopt in rendering good telephone service to the American people at reasonable rates, and at the same time rates adequate to guarantee investors a reasonable income on his money, and providing a living wage to employees.

Mr. F. B. MacKinnon, of Washington, was elected President, and Mr. W. S. Vivian, of Chicago, was elected Secretary and Treasurer, and other officers and directors were elected from several different States, including Mr. S. M. Heller, Louisville, Ky.

MR. JAMES H. THOMPSON ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR REPRESENTATIVE

In this issue of THE NEWS Mr. James H. Thompson, one of the representative young farmers and business men of the county, makes public announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Representative from Bourbon county in the Lower House of the Kentucky Legislature, and will submit his claims to the voters of the county for their acceptance at the primary election to be held in August.

Mr. Thompson has seen a great deal of public life, and has been a power in the councils of the Democratic party in all its struggles, whether city, county, State or National campaigns. He was for four years Chairman of the Bourbon County Democratic Committee and a member of the committee for eight years, during which time he gave of the services without stint, deeming it a pleasure and a duty to do anything he could for the Democratic party and for the people of the county. He has been a tireless and consistent worker in the interest of the people in trying to secure an equitable readjustment of the tax rate, and has in other ways placed himself on record as a servant of the people and not one who would wish to become a master or a "boss." Bourbon county cannot do itself prouder than to nominate and elect Mr. James H. Thompson to represent it in the Legislature. It is not believed that he will have opposition, and, in view of his eminent fitness for the office it would be fitting that he should be sent to the Lower House by a unanimous vote of the Democratic voters of the county.

In response to a call on him to make the race for Representative, Hon. Claude M. Thomas declined to do so because of important business engagements, which take him out of the State much of the time.

EDITORIAL MUSINGS.

As Regards Spelling.

The familiar old "Blue Back Speller" seldom is seen in the public schools of to-day. The study of spelling has had its ups and downs of popular favor. Once it seemed to be thought that children would absorb spelling with the air of the school room. Just now there is a revival of interest in good orthography. All kinds of educational short-cuts are continually being tried with the feeling that somehow time can be saved, the clock cheated, and one or two extra branches of study crammed down the juvenile throat.

It is a pretty good general principle that an important thing can not be taken up incidentally. The human mind will not follow two main lines of attention at one time and do both of them systematically. The poor writer gets by nowadays by using a typewriter. The poor speller may possibly be able to buy correct orthography by having a stenographer do his writing. But the proportion of people who have a secretary waiting around, note book and sharpened pencil in hand to take their letters, is pretty small.

A poorly spelled business letter strikes you like the shabby suit of clothes worn by the stranger. The man who wrote it may be able to make good, but the bad spelling carries a suggestion of incompetency. A badly spelled social letter gives the feeling of slovenliness, and you can almost imagine the writer wearing the latest Paris styles, but failing to keep her face clean.

The trouble is not so much with the long words that you have to look up in the dictionary anyway. It is with the tricky, little short words, the ever-puzzling questions like whether it is "el" or "ie."

Passing of Chivalry.

There should be something said of the lack of courtesy shown by some of the men of Paris to the ladies when passing them on the street. There are a number of men, and some of them our most prominent business men, who are very careless in this matter.

Not long ago a well-known lady was walking up the street. She met a gentleman whom she knew quite well. She spoke to him. He nodded and passed on, but did not raise his hat. A few days later they met again. The lady looked at him as she would look at a total stranger—and passed on. It is needless to say that the gentleman learned his lesson and now is exceedingly polite and is careful to lift his hat when he meets a lady, particularly the one mentioned.

And so it should be. Ladies, demand the respect that is due you and you will get it. Speak to no man who will not show you the courtesy of raising his hat to you.

A Midsummer's Tale.

It used to be an old-time joke that some people were so fond of newspapers that they even read the advertisements. That might have been a humorous remark years ago. At that period some merchants would run an advertisement for a whole year unchanged. Clothing dealers would start in advertising January first with a notice of overcoats for sale, and keep it running in July.

To-day people read the advertisements as a matter of business. The women read it just as a farmer reads wheat and pork prices or as a banker reads the financial reports. They thereby get ideas as to how they can save on household or personal expenses. Probably a majority of the women turn first to the advertising of their favorite merchants, and then read the news later.

The men also read the advertising carefully. Even if they have no business enterprise of their own, they are interested in the advertising as a reflection of the business life of the town.

Hence it is perhaps unnecessary to suggest to the readers of THE NEWS that its advertising columns are worthy of careful attention. Still it is worth while to say that there is no time when advertising is worth such careful attention as in midsummer. All kinds of merchants have the proposition before them of cleaning out their stocks before cool weather come on. That requires publicity. The goods will not move themselves. The public must be told about them and in detail.

The story of what is happening in the stores will be found in the advertising columns of this newspaper. Most of the readers are seeing it, and it will repay their scrutiny.

A Bumper Crop of Oratory

A Washington correspondent advises that the prospect is good for an overwhelming crop of Congressional oratory. The outlook has never been any better. It is intended to use the output in a general campaign throughout the United States. Both those against and those favorable to the League of Nations will send enormous number of speeches to people in every hamlet in the land. So we suppose the old "franking system" will be a popular habit with this Congress. No one seems to desire its end except the people on the outside.

PLANT THINGS FOR THE CHILDREN.

If there are any children on your place plant some of the things that children specially like to eat. I don't mean by this just plain, everyday field crops and vegetables, but the "real good" things. Watermelons and canteloupes in abundance for summer use. Popcorn and peanuts for winter. I would say berries and grapes and orchard fruits and nuts, if it were not now too late for these things.

All of these things, of course, are worth growing for the satisfaction of the grown-ups, and for the profit there is in growing them; but if there was never a cent to be had out of them, the satisfaction the children get out of them would make them worth while. The farm without an orchard is only half a home. The farmer who has no vineyard or no strawberry patch does not exactly understand what farming is done for. The place with no nut trees in the woods or along the fences is a sadly incomplete place. The system of farming that fails to take childish appetites into consideration is a radically defective system.

Make the farm a real home for the children—a place at which they will look back with love in after years if they leave it. You can do no better farming than this.

MAKING THEM AMERICANS

(St. Paul Dispatch.)

The Wisconsin Bridge and Iron Company of Milwaukee has the right idea. It thinks that a man who cannot speak the common language of the country is neither a good American nor an efficient worker. And so it has taken a very interesting step designed to Americanize its non-English speaking employees. It has arranged with a Milwaukee vocational board to credit all non-English speaking workmen with one hour's pay for every two devoted to the study of English. The man who works eight hours at the plant, and who attends a night school two hours in the evening receives pay for nine hours of work. It is very well worth his while to learn to speak English—not only because he is paid for the learning, but because any worker suffers a serious handicap who cannot make himself understood in, and cannot understand, the language of the country.

This Wisconsin corporation will get its money's worth. Its employees will not only be better Americans, but far more efficient Americans.

BANKERS PROTEST SENDING MONEY BY AIRPLANES.

J. W. Harriman, president of the Harriman National Bank, of New York, in a statement, said that $63,000 of the bank's money lost in transit from New York to Chicago by aero mail recently was in the form of checks and drafts which were burned when a mail plane was destroyed at Cleveland on May 25.

He added that it was several days before bank officials were able to learn what had become of the checks and drafts, which had been mailed to Chicago via train.

"We asked the Postoffice Department to make an inquiry," Mr. Harriman said, "and then we compared notes with other New York banks, making the discovery that others had also lost. Attention was called to the fact that the day after we mailed the letters an airplane carrying mail was burned over Cleveland and after pressing matters at Washington we secured admission that the mail had been forwarded by airplane.

"We simply don't want them to experiment in the air with money."

"Beware of small expenses; a small leak will sink a great ship," said Franklin. He knew.

AMERICA'S INFLUENCE AMONG NATIONS DEPENDS ON THRIFT OF INDIVIDUALS.

A nation, like a man, has some kind of a reputation. In order to achieve any standing in the world that reputation must be good and it must be earned.

Just now the good standing and the reputation of America among the peoples of the earth was never better. In fact, it was never quite to high as now. The main thing is to keep it so.

We went into the war with motives as clean as any nation that ever went into any war. We went into it to maintain our reputation before the world. We had been bullied by the Huns for a good while. We had tried arguments—tried turning the other cheek. Germany had outraged us. There was an open belief in Hun-land that we were gold-worshippers, money chasers, indifferent to everything save our money and our own selfish comfort. And it is a regrettable fact that the world had begun to swing over to Germany's way of thinking.

We changed that, so swiftly and so effectively, that such memories are almost forgotten. League of Nations or not, it will be many a long day before another Imperial upstart seeks trouble with America. What happened to the Kaiser and his junkers when they finally brought us into the war will remain in the memories of man for a mighty long time.

Foreign nations know now, what they expected or feared. That America once aroused is always willing to throw in every man and every dollar and that her resources are so great as to be night well limitless.

Now, we have won the golden opinion of the world, let us set to work to hold it. We have a lot of obligations growing out of this war. Some of them are legal, some of them are financial and some of them are moral. All of these obligations are vital and imperative. Some of them have to do with the future of the nation and the trend of the world in the days to come.

Some of these obligations, many of them in fact, can be met with hard cash. Those should be the very easiest for us to deal with. We have the money in this country to deal with them. Our financial strength was not strained by the war.

We have bills to pay and loans that must be paid for the rebuilding and rehabilitation of our allies. And all the while we must meek in mind that the Allies were fighting our battles for us, long before we came in to take our own part. The Belgians were fighting for us at Liege back in 1914. The Britons were fighting for us at Liege back in 1914. The Britons were dying for us at Mons in that same year, but we never knew it.

The French were holding for us at Verdun, but we refused to realize it then, though we had begun to suspect the truth. They were fighting our fight for us, and we would be a nation of ingrates if we refused to take these things into account, now that the war is over.

The way to hold the good opinion of the world is to hold up our end, pay our debts, take care of our obligations and see that the weaker folk among our Allies get a chance. It is then an obligation that finally comes back to each and all of us, individually.

To fail to do these things now will amount to throwing away all that we have won at the expense of blood and much treasure. There must be no letting up now that we have won the fight.

An improvident people cannot finish the job that has been cut out for us. If the United States is to be the paramount power of this world, and exert the influence that it can and should, this country must continue to be prosperous.

The prosperity of a nation depends upon the prosperity of the individuals comprising the nation. If the people are improvident the nation is impotent.

The administration, even before the war was won, began the reconstruction work. And the ablest financiers and the greatest statesmen worked out the plans to inculcate thrift among the masses.

It was to reach the masses that the War Savings Stamp and the Thrift Stamp were brought into existence. The Treasury Department wanted to give to the man with the smallest amount of money to invest just as attractive an offer as it made to the millionaire. That was why the baby bonds were made to bear four per cent., with interest compounded quarterly. And a more liquid investment can not be made. The interest adds itself automatically. If adversity should come, and the holder really has to sell, he may cash his securities on ten days' notice. The Treasury Department still further protects the man with a small amount to invest, by making it impossible for an individual to acquire more than $1,000 of the securities in any one year.

Any postmaster or bank will be glad to explain all the details of the War Savings plan.

KENTUCKY CROP REPORT.

With numerous reports of short or poorly filled heads and some damage from rust and lodging, Kentucky's wheat crop promises 14,707,000 bushels compared to a prospect early in May for 15,257,000 bushels. Last year the final yield turned out 12,129,000 bushels, while the 5-year average, 1913-17 inclusive, was only 9,862,000 bushels. The heaviest damage has been, apparently, in Southwestern and Western Kentucky.

Oats did not do so well during the cold, wet weather, in May, as might have been expected, but are now doing well, except too badly drowned out. The condition is now 96 per cent. of normal, and the acreage about 388,000 acres, 3 per cent. less than in 1918, indicating a production of about 10,429,440 bushels.

Rye shows a condition of 98 per cent. of normal. With about 62,000 acres in the State to be harvested for grain this indicates a production of approximately 856,716 bushels.

Barley acreage in Kentucky this year is about 2 per cent. less than in 1918, or about 6,860 acres, probably due to increased burley tobacco acreage. Practically all the barley in Kentucky is grown in the Blue Grass counties. Condition of barley is 96 per cent. of normal, indicating a production of about 203,554 bushels.

Hay has made fine growth, but much of the first cutting of alfalfa was badly damaged by wet weather. Condition of clover is 96 per cent. with the acreage about 3 per cent. less than in 1918. Alfalfa condition is 96 per cent., because many farmers had to delay the first cutting until the second growth shoots from the crown got so long they were clipped by the mower. The acreage is about the same as in 1918.

Apples are irregular. Many orchards had practically all apples killed by the late freezes, but some orchards have a fair crop. The average is about 35 per cent. of a crop. Peaches are about 33 per cent. of a crop, while pears are only about 26 per cent.

Pastures are excellent all over the State. Truck crops are growing fine, but melons were severely checked by the cold, wet weather in May. Blackberries promise a bumper crop practically all over the State.

REDS IN SUNDAY SCHOOL.

(Brooklyn Standard-Union.)

It is distinctly disturbing to learn there are 15 Sunday Schools regularly in operation in Brooklyn in which principles of Bolshevism are taught and encouraged to believe in that fantastic doctrine given to hundreds of boys and girls. These schools are Socialistic in their origin and largely Socialistic in their purpose, but they go much further than American Socialists are in the habit of going by praising Bolshevism and acclaiming Lenin and Trotsky. Nor is that all. They uphold men convicted for flouting the laws, thus creating the spirits of insurrection and bringing into contempt our system of government and those charged with its conduct.

It requires no fine vision to see where this thing will lead to. The certain fruits of filling the minds of the young with the poison of Bolshevism, with class hatred, with disregard for the law and disrespect for our form of government are anarchy. These boys and girls will grow up in the belief they should resist all authority and not hesitate to plunge the country into chaos in order to promote their political and economical ideas.

The world has seen what a red terror Bolshevism is. It has prostrated Russia and is gnawing at the foundations of other Governments. The threat is here—is actually in this city and in other communities, especially the large industrial centers. There should be a way to close these "Sunday Schools," just as there are means of combatting the growth of Bolshevism. This barbarous thing must be challenged and one method of doing so is by exposing its wickedness, its utter disregard for liberty and property.

HER FIRST REAL MONEY

"This card represents my first real money," recently said a farmer's wife, with an odd look of mingled pride, depreciation and something like triumph.

"At home, as a girl, I had no money. Mother bought things for us with whatever money father gave her. Since I've been married it's been much the same. I've got things at the town stores and Jim's paid the bills for them. Even my eggs and butter money has gone, as a rule, to help with the household upkeep—turned in on the grocery bill, usually. I've never seemed able to hold on to a penny.

"But when the War Savings Stamps came along I said to myself: 'Here's your chance, Mary!' and now I buy War Savings Stamps regularly, take 'em in chance as regularly as sell chickens or cash the creamery check at the bank. I've filled several cards already, and I can tell you I gloat over 'em! When these War Savings Stamps mature, I'll have real money of my own."

Money spent is money gone—invest in War Savings Stamps—it stays with you.

CLUB MEMBERS GRADUATE

One hundred and fifty club members of the boys' and girls' clubs, received their certificates at London, Ky., June 14. This big group of youngsters, who had finished agricultural objects in the growing of corn, potatoes or soy beans, in canning, in handling chickens, pigs, sheep or other live stock, came from Clay, Knox, Whitley, Laurel and Bell counties. They came with their county agents not only to receive their certificates rolled up with fancy ribbons, but also to spend the day together and to attend a banquet in the evening with regular speakers. During the afternoon baseball, basketball and tennis were enjoyed. This event is one of the first big get-together meetings of the boys and girls, but others are sure to follow.

RAINBOW DIVISION BAND AT THE BLUE GRASS FAIR

The famous Rainbow Division Band, of forty-two pieces, has been engaged by the Blue Grass Fair Association to furnish the music for the entire fair this year, opening with a sacred concert Sunday evening, August 31, and playing daily and in the evening of every day until the fair is over, September 6.

The Rainbow Division Band is one of the most famous of the American military bands, and has been in much demand since its return to this country. The member participated in seven battles, including the Argonne, Chateau Thierry, and St. Mihiel, wherever the members of the Rainbow Division, the first across, were engaged.

DIZZINESS IS ANNOYING

As Many Paris People Know Too Well.

When the kidneys are weak or disordered, they fall behind in filtering the blood or poison. As these poisons attack the nerves, the result is felt in spells of vertigo, just as drunkenness will make a man dizzy from the poisoning of alcohol. Dizziness, headache, backache and irregularity of the kidney secretions are all signs of weak or disordered kidneys and should not be neglected. Use Doan's Kidney Pills, the home-endorsed kidney remedy. Read this Paris resident's statement:

Mrs. J. W. Markland, 326 Eighth street, says: "Some few years ago I suffered severely with kidney complaint and some times was in a serious condition. I had a constant dull ache across the small of my back and I was terribly dizzy at times. I have used Doan's Kidney Pills for this trouble and they have helped me more than anything else, always relieving me of the complaints."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Markland had. Foster-Milburn Co. Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

THRIFT A HERITAGE OF WAR

"Government securities afford the safest and most practical investment in the world," said Representative William S. Howard, of Georgia. A War Savings Stamp is a promissory note for $5.00 if redeemed at maturity, or of the original cost of the stamp plus accrued interest if redeemed before maturity.

"It was only after America entered the great world conflict that the small wage earner in this country has been afforded the opportunity of investing in Government securities, of becoming co-partners with the Government. That there are to-day more than 20,000,000 holders of Government securities as compared with 3,000,000 before the war is a fact which speaks for itself.

When you buy a War Savings Stamp it is a proof of patriotism and also a practical manifestation of that spirit of national thrift and individual savings which has come to us as a permanent heritage from the war."

FRATERNAL SOCIETIES ENDORSE W. S. S.

At the recent convocation of the Grand Commandery Knights Templar of Missouri, at Moberly, resolutions urging the Commanderies and the individual members to invest in War Savings Stamps were unanimously adopted. A few days before the Grand I. O. O. F., at St. Louis, took similar action. With these two, the oldest and most powerful fraternal organizations on earth, endorsing the Thrift movement, the sales of W. S. S. are looking up.

BRONZE SERVICE MEDALS FOR AMERICAN SOLDIERS.

Men who served ninety days in the Spanish-American War or on the Mexican border during 1916 and 1917 will be given bronze medals signifying that service, according to an order just received by the Army recruiting office in Lexington from the war department. Application for these medals will be made to the Adjutant-General of the Army through military channels.

Men who served ninety days in the regulars, the volunteers, or the national guard, under orders of the President, and who are not eligible for the Spanish Campaign Badge, will be in line for the Spanish-American War Service Medal, as it is called. Officers and men in both the regulars and the national guard who served on the border between January 1, 1916 and April 6, 1917, will be eligible for the Mexican Border Service Medal.

WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON?

Throughout Missouri, Arkansas and Kentucky men are wearing on their coat lapels and women on their waists button of a new design. Both are attractive and each is significant. The smaller button, not quite so large as a dime, possess much artistic beauty. In the center, on a black background, appears in a warm brown, a miniature portrait of Benjamin Franklin. In a circle surrounding it, on a brown background, and in letters of gold are the words "War Savings Society." The other button is somewhat larger. It is about the size of a nickel. The background is a solid lustrous blue, and in gold letters, easily distinguishable appears W. S. S.

The smaller button signifies the wearer is a member of a War Savings Society, while the larger button indicates he is a casual buyer of War Savings Stamps. The numbers of these buttons are increasing daily.

LAUNDRY OWNERS' CONVENTION CLOSES AT LEXINGTON.

The twenty-fifth annual convention of the Laundry Owners' Association of Kentucky closed, after sessions of two days at Lexington, with the election of the following officers: Russell Broadbush, of Louisville, president; J. J. Owen, Fulton, vice-president; George Dusser, Louisville, secretary-treasurer. Louisville was chosen for the 1920 convention. The Salvation Army drive was endorsed and a $50 subscription was given. Several addresses were made of technical interests to laundrymen and employees.

UNITED STATES PLANS TO FORTIFY TEXAS BORDER.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Completion of forts and housing accommodations along the Mexican border, undertaken by the War Department to ameliorate the trials of the troops serving as patrols, will give the United States its first real fortified frontier.

Regularly established army posts along the international boundary now total more than two score, with probably as many more outpost positions, each accommodating a troop of cavalry or an infantry platoon. The three-years watch of the American troops led the War Department finally to decide that permanent housing should be furnished.

The cost of this construction to the Government has been small, Maj. Gen. Rosey C. Cabell, commanding the Southern Department, was authorized to visit the camps in his department which were to be abandoned and to claim any material needed. Entire buildings were transported to the border and re-erected by the troops. Only a very small quantity of new lumber and equipment was used.

Official maps just issued by the War Department designate the following points as "army posts."

California—San Ysidro, Palm City, Compo, Tecate and Calexico.

Arizona—Yuma, Ajo, Arivaco, Ft. Nogales, Lochiel and Ft. Douglas.

Texas—El Paso, Fort Hancock, Hester's Ranch, Marfa, Candelario, Evert's Ranch, Ruidosa, Terlingua, Glenn Springs, Del Rio, Fort Clark, Eagle Pass, Indio Ranch, Delores Mine, Laredo, Delorez, Zapata, Roma, Mission, Fort Ringgold, San Benito, Camp Mercedes, Harlington, Brownsville and Fort Brown.

PACIFIC FLEET TO CRUISE TO WEST COAST.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The recently established Pacific fleet, now being organized from vessels heretofore forming a part of the Atlantic forces, will sail from Hampton Roads for the west coast between July 15 and 20, Secretary Daniels announced.

Mr. Daniels probably will be a passenger on one of the warships making the trip to the Pacific through the Panama Canal.

The superdreadnought New Mexico will fly Admiral Hugh Rodman's flag as flagship of the Pacific fleet, and flagship of the Atlantic fleet. The composition of the two fleets, Secretary Daniels announced, will be made public within a few days.

The Pacific fleet, upon reaching the Western coast, will visit San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco and probably will make the last stop at Puget Sound.

Secretary Daniels, if able to make the trip, will visit the Pacific coast a view to making recommendations to a view of making recommendations to Congress next December for necessary changes.

In announcing the date of departure of the Pacific fleet from Hampton Roads, which is about a month earlier than previously contemplated, Secretary Daniels said he had planned on visiting the Pacific coast in August and that he therefore would make every effort to go with the fleet in order to study the scope of contemplated improvements of naval facilities at the Panama Canal. It was learned at the Navy Department that extensive changes would be necessary in the naval establishment in the canal zone, especially on the Pacific side, to take care of the greatly augmented Pacific fleet.

MT. ROOSEVELT.

It is altogether fitting that the highest peak in the Black Hills of South Dakota should be rechristened Mt. Theodore Roosevelt. The ceremony will take place July 4. From this majestic summit can be seen the vigorous country where a big soul sought to secure a more sturdy body in which to dwell. It seems as if nature, in that vast silence, held the great secret she revealed to the world—the budding and blossoming of one whom she knew was to be one of her noblest and best. From the bosom of the wild hills the young American nursed the very vigor and spirit of America and from the freedom of the vast plains he felt the inspiration of American liberty.

Born elsewhere, his real cradle was the Black Hills of South Dakota, for there he grew to man's state fit for the great work before him.

Mt. Theodore Roosevelt will typify the towering strength of American patriotism and the possibilities of American manhood. As the Almighty rears one mountain peak above all others, so He rears one man above others, in character, individuality and power.

The mortal remains of a truly great man may lie in the tomb, but his soul lies majestically to the heavens like the towering peak of Mt. Theodore Roosevelt.

STATES MAY USE LIQUOR IN TIME OF EPIDEMICS.

Under an amendment to the prohibition enforcement bill, approved by the house judiciary committee a State would be permitted to withdraw, tax free, from Government warehouses alcohol produced at industrial plants and needed by health authorities in time of epidemics. In offering the amendment representative Goodykoontz, Republican, of West Virginia, called attention to the situation last year during the Spanish Influenza epidemic and said in many cases physicians had used whisky as the best and most available remedy.

Another amendment approved by the committee provide that patent medicines contain more than one-half of one per cent. of alcohol must be "unfit for use for beverage purposes."

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

Gay colored triangular streamers, stretched across Main street, and banners bearing the legend, "Paris' Big Chautauqua, July 8," with other attractive advertising matter, tell of the near approach of the annual Chautauqua. This is an event that always draws large crowds to Paris.

The program has been published in large display advertisements in THE NEWS, reference to which will show it to be one of the most attractive that the local people have yet had. The work will be put on here at the Paris Grand Opera House, and will be, as heretofore, under the auspices of the White & Myers Chautauqua System, of Kansas City.

Season tickets for the week have been placed on sale at a number of places in this city at the following rates: Adults, $2.20; children, $1.10, war tax included. Get yours now and avoid the rush, which is sure to come.

AUTO STOLEN HERE IS FOUND IN OHIO TOWN.

Stolen from near the carnival grounds, on Winchester street, in Paris, where it had been parked, a machine belonging to Mr. Newton Rankin, of Carlisle, was located in Dayton, Ohio, by the Dayton police, who wired Chief of Police Link, in this city, to that effect. The car bore the license tag number 56,514. The tag had been removed and the top, it was stated, had been sold in Cincinnati by the thief, in order to get a supply of gasoline to take him into Cincinnati. The Dayton police stated that they had the thief under arrest, and that he had admitted his guilt.

The machine had been driven to Paris by Mr. Grover Herrington and a party of friends from near Carlisle, who came here to attend the carnival Tuesday night. The machine had been left parked on Winchester street near the carnival grounds. When the young people looked for their car to make the trip homeward it was gone.

Later messages to the Paris police give the information that the driver of the stolen machine had given his name as Robert Martin, aged eighteen, residence Lexington. He is being held by the Dayton police for the Bourbon county authorities. Martin confessed his guilt, detailing the circumstances attending the theft of the machine.

HOLDINGS

Fifteen Acres IN BURKBURNETT. The company announced two weeks ago their purchase of five acres additional in Northwest Burkburnett. This tract is in the adjoining survey to the Evans survey in which the M. & P. Burk, one of the greatest in the field, came in less than 3 weeks ago and is directly in the center of the new trend of production as indicated by the Texas Chief, Golden Cycle, M. & P. Burk and Burk-Waggoner. TWIN GUSHERS original holdings in Burkburnett is ten acres west of the town site completely surrounded by production. The Magnolia, one of the conservative old line companies, own an adjoining tract. The Serene holdings on which a number of 1,600 foot wells came in at from 2,000 to 3,600 barrels are on our north. Think of it! FIFTEEN ACRES OF THE BEST IN BURKBURNETT! Easily enough acreage to float three times the capitalization.

The M. & P. Burk as big as any well in Northwest Burkburnett is 440 yards from our five acre Burkburnett tract.

Two Hundred Acres COMANCHE COUNTY is known all over Texas as "The 100 Per Cent. Oil Field, the Field That Knows No Failures!" The latest report which may be old to-morrow is that there are eleven producers and seventy-three wells drilling in Comanche, a deep field and home of some of the greatest wells in Texas—the Duke and the Knowles, which have made small stockholders wealthy. TWIN GUSHER derives its name from its two tracts of one hundred acres each in Comanche which are entirely surrounded by deep wells drilling at from 800 to 2,000 feet. Some of these are expected in daily.

One Hundred and Sixty Acres in TERRELL COUNTY, a new field covered with a black shale so saturated with oil that there is no mistaking its presence. The Standard and Humble people are reported to be securing acreage as fast as possible in Terrell. TWIN GUSHER has 160 acres in the vicinity of a deep test being put down by the business men of Sanderson, Texas.

This is the story of your opportunity. It is left to you to act and if you act at all you must act quickly. We offer you a One Hundred Per Cent Proposition backed by One Hundred Per Cent Men. Send Your Subscription NOW. TO-DAY you can get Twin Gusher for $1.50 Per Share.

STORM DESTROYS TOBACCO

One of the heavy rainstorms which visited the county the past week did a great deal of damage in the Little Rock vicinity. On the farm of Mr. John L. Soper fourteen acres of tobacco were washed out and destroyed. Heavy damage was done to growing crops on other farms, the wheat especially being the loser in the struggle with the elements.

YOUTHFUL "CRAPSTERS" ARE BROUGHT INTO COURT.

It was an unwelcome sight that people on the streets and in the court house beheld yesterday morning, when a bunch of twelve young boys, none of them hardly in their teens, were presented in the juvenile court, in charge of an officer, who made the charge of crapshooting against them.

After hearing the evidence the court, in view of the youth of the offenders, gave them a severe reprimand and released them from custody. In the number was one young fellow who has been in trouble several times before. The boys all promised to be good in the future.

A MODERN FURNITURE STORE.

One of the most beautiful and modern furniture stores in the State is the one of E. M. Wheeler's, which has just undergone extensive improvements. The entire lower floor of the Robneel Building has been leased by this firm, which makes three large storerooms in one—they having been remodeled and thrown together, papered, painted and otherwise improved. Several years ago this firm started out moderately in one room, but with fair and honest dealing, courteous treatment to its trade and the selling of the best and most substantial goods at moderate prices, it has expanded from year to year, until now the entire lower floor of the big Robneel Building is occupied by this prosperous and growing concern. Plenty of light and plenty of room make shopping easy there. And, too, during the month of July, Mr. Wheeler is offering all summer goods at greatly reduced prices in order to put the money in a big stock of fall and winter goods. If you want porch furniture, shades, refrigerators, oil stoves, ovens, rugs, etc., you can save money by purchasing during the month of July.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Comings and Goings of Our People Here, There and Elsewhere.

—Mrs. M. E. Elder, of Lake Village, Ark., is a guest of her son, Mr. F. S. Elder, on Seventh street.

—Mrs. Evelyn Weathers, of Oklahoma, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Letcher Weathers, at Clintonville.

—Prof. A. H. Morehead, of Lexington, formerly of Paris, was a recent visitor in Paris, on a business mission.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jos. James have as guests at their home on Parrish avenue Misses Margaret and Ruth Highland, of Covington.

—Mr. Henry Clay, formerly of Paris, now engaged in farming near Taylorsville, in Spencer county, was a visitor in Paris last week.

—Messrs. George Lewis Payne and Wm. Barnett, of Tampa, Florida, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gano Hildreth and other relatives in the county.

—Mr. A. C. Teller, of Chicago, was a guest for the week-end of his wife, who has been at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Price, in this city, several weeks.

—Mrs. Kate Clarke and daughter, Miss Julia Clarke, will leave to-day for Washington, D. C., to spend the remainder of the summer with Major Richard ("Tal") Clarke.

—Mrs. Mary Snapp and Mrs. Fred Snapp and little son, Ezra, of Pleasant Lake, Ind., have returned to their homes after a visit to relatives in Paris, Millersburg and Clintonville.

—Mr. L. D. Harris, of the firm of Harris & Speakes, is able to be at his place of business, after a long confinement at home, the result of a broken ankle sustained by a fall at the Paris Grand Opera House several weeks ago.

—Mr. C. M. Hamburg, of Boston, Mass., representing the Wheeler interests, who operate the Paris Water Co., was in Paris several days the past week, on a business mission. Mr. Hamburger says Paris is one of the finest little towns he has visited in Central Kentucky.

—Mrs. Katie Cain, of Columbia, South Carolina, formerly Miss Katie Graham Thomson, of Paris, will arrive this week for a visit to Mrs. John T. Hinton and other relatives. At the conclusion of her visit she will spend the remainder of the summer in the mountains of South Carolina. Mrs. Cain is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Thompson, formerly of Paris, and a frequent visitor here.

—Mr. Ussery Wilder, who has been a patient at the Massie Memorial Hospital, in this city, where he was taken some time ago, following an automobile accident, in which he was injured, has been moved to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wilder. He is rapidly recovering and will leave in a few days for the home of his uncle, Mr. Wilson Wilder, in Louisville, to recuperate.

One of the delightful society events of the season at the Country Club, near Lexington, last week, was the dance given by Miss Fannie Summers Tarlton, the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jere Tarlton. The clubrooms and porches were decorated with June flowers in profusion. Guests were present from all the surrounding towns. Among those present and participating were Misses Callie Gay and Elmata Hinton, and Mr. George White Pithian, all of Paris.

—Rev. Father Eugene DeBruyn, pastor of the Church of the Annunciation, in this city, has gone to the old world to look up his relatives, if any are living, in the devastated land of Belgium. He will also look after his financial and property interests there. It will require about two weeks to make the trip, the distance being about five thousand miles. His many friends here wish him a safe journey and a safe return, and that he may find conditions in his old home much improved.

A brilliant society event of the past week was the dance given at Ringo's Hall, in Mt. Sterling, by Miss Sarah Frances Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Carroll Hamilton, for her guests, Miss Fannie Horn, of New York, and Dorothy Wood, of Louisville. Among those in attendance were the following from Bourbon county: Charles Spears, Harvey Rogers, Wm. Rogers, Charlton Clay, Russell Frank and Woodford Buckner, of Paris, and Miss Bush Allen, of Millersburg.

—Misses Mary and Julia Calnan are visiting friends and relatives in Cincinnati.

—Dr. B. F. Orr received a message yesterday stating that his son, Capt. Jas. Orr, had arrived at Camp Taylor, and would probably return to Paris, Friday. Dr. Orr's other son, Mr. Ben F. Orr, Jr., left yesterday to join a party at Jackson, Ky., who are surveying a road through the mountains.

—Miss Maude V. Reid, formerly of Paris, who has taught commercial subjects for the past seventeen years in the city of Lexington, has taken a position as a member of the staff of the Fugazie School of Business, in Lexington. Miss Reid is now in Chicago, where she is attending the Gregg University of Shorthand.

Among the recent arrivals of Bourbon county men who have been in the service overseas are Wherrit Howard and Weaver Talbott, both of whom have been in France as members of the American Expeditionary Forces. Mr. Talbott will resume his former position on the Louisville and Nashville, in the train service. Both have received their final discharge papers restoring them to civilian life.

—Mr. Jesse M. Kennedy, a former resident of Paris, is visiting relatives in this city. Mr. Kennedy has for some time been located in Wichita Falls, and El Paso, Texas, as representative of the Twin Gusher Oil & Refining Company, whose large display advertisement will be found in this issue of THE NEWS, on page four. Mr. Kennedy was for years in the employ of Mr. Edward Stamler, of Paris, as architectural draughtsman, and later in the same business for himself.

—Mr. Henry L. ("Dick") Nippert, who has been a patient at the Massie ed that he had been in a number of several weeks, has gone to Louisville, to recuperate at the home of his sister, Mrs. Percy Henry. "Dick" was very enthusiastic in his praise of the local hospital, and stated to THE NEWS that no one could have been accorded better attention. He stated that he had been a number of hospitals in the past few years, but that the Massie Memorial Hospital was, in point of equipment, attention to patients and general institutional efficiency, one of the best he had been in.

INTERESTING STATISTICS ABOUT OUR AMERICAN DOUGHBOYS

Oceans of coffee, chocolate and lemonade, mountains of doughnuts and sandwiches and pyramids of ice cream were consumed by the 1,621,417 American doughboys who passed through the American Red Cross canteen at Toul during the last eleven months. The Toul refreshment station, long known as "one of the busiest Red Cross spots in France," is located in the original American battle sector at a point which enabled it to feed almost as many soldiers as there were in the American Expeditionary forces. Many interesting figures regarding the canteen's activities are contained in a report received at Red Cross headquarters.

American fighting men tarried there long enough to eat 1,561,625 thickly-constructed, well-filled sandwiches and 461,114 doughnuts. During the big American troops movements in the Toul Sector last June the canteen served 3,000 men a day, the soldiers of the Twenty-sixth, Seventy-seventh and Eighty-second divisions being cared for as they passed through in trains. No effort was made to keep track of the number of cigarettes and quantity of tobacco passed out to the men at this point. During the American offensive last September 18,000 soldiers received refreshments as they were carried into and evacuated from a hospital two miles outside of Toul.

Originally the canteen was established in a fifty-foot tent in the railroad yard at Toul, but with the rapid increase in the number of men to be cared for the Red Cross took over an entire hotel closed by the work. As many as 7,000 soldiers have found lodgings there in a month, the number cared for in this way rarely dropping below 3,000. More than 200,000 soldiers received meals there during the month of January. The shower baths have been used by 70,000 soldiers. General Pershing recently inspected the canteen and complimented the managers.

A SPIRAL CULTIVATOR

An invitation which might be used with profit on the flat level farming lands of this country has been invented, and was recently described in the Popular Science Monthly. It operates from a central tower, and the cultivating apparatus is so arranged that it gradually draws closer to the center. Once set, and with rows arranged at the proper interval, the endless circular cultivating machine will go right on night or day. All a man needs is to have his planting plotted properly, a supply of gasoline, and the spiral cultivator.

The writer tells of its try-out on a ten-acre New Jersey farm. "Down the rows of corn it went all alone, and never bruised or chopped a root. Around and around the field the thing moved, around a center which is constantly approached. The corn had been planted in a spiral formation about a tall post capped with a circular drum or cask—inspection reveals a thin wire extending to a central drum around which the wire winds itself as the work of cultivating proceeds. That explains the spiral movement."

"The machine is a narrow tractor of special make, the engine is a compact but very efficient gasoline type about four-horse power. To the framework can be attached any of the usual implements for cultivating the land. Plowing, hoeing, harrowing, and many other operations are performed in the spiral path as well as in the straight course. A gangbar for the attachment of the implements may be used so that several rows may be cultivated at the same time."

Sounds interesting, doesn't it. Large farms should be divided into ten-acre circular tracks, the intervening spaces used for orchards, pastures, etc., and even a lazy man can run a farm without much personal work.

DANIELS AND THE NAVY

That Secretary Daniels advises abandonment of our extra large naval program is somewhat of a surprise to most of us. Just what his reasons are remain to be seen, but it is very probable that the recommendation will be adopted.

We are a bit wary about a small navy policy. There are too many unforeseen developments that may come about. The realm of international interests is a changing and fickle fortune; enemies to-day are friends to-morrow, and the allies of one time are at each other's throat within comparatively small times.

With our Monroe Doctrine we have a load to carry. The other American nations, it is true, are beginning to build small navies, but the burden of defence in this hemisphere is upon the United States. Sea power is vital; in future wars, as in this one, it will be decisive. No nation can afford to put its welfare into the keeping of other countries except upon our part will be small. If England, France or Japan continue to build their navies and equip them up to their present standards, the United States will be foolish in permitting her own navy to deteriorate in relative size or efficiency.

Dream Tears.

Far better to dream of crying than of laughter, for tears in a dream mean joy and merriment in real life; while laughter, when it is dream laughter, presages difficult circumstances.

SEEMS TO DEMAND SOLUTION

Mystery Surrounding Green Bottle Found in Cornerstone of Building Puzzles Antiquarians.

Springfield antiquarians are as interested as the weather will permit over the discovery in the cornerstone of one of the armory buildings of "an ancient green bottle," to quote from the printed description of the find. It is said that it closely resembles an oldtime rum bottle, except that its surface is covered with what are alleged to be Masonic characters, says the Hartford Courant. Fragments of a cork were found, but the bottle contained no fluid, not even an odor.

That the bottle was empty when found affords no ground for surprise, but that its surface is completely covered by Masonic characters may give rise to much speculation. Had it been covered or partially covered with characters which indicated that it once contained distilled liquor from the West Indies there would have been little cause for speculation, inasmuch as such bottles and such spirits were common a hundred years ago when the cornerstone was supposed to have been put in place.

That the bottle was put in place while empty suggests a thrifty disposition on the part of the builders.

APES SUFFER IN CAPTIVITY

Gorillas, Taken From Their Native Haunts, Speedily Die From Pure Lack of Companionship.

"Any sympathy that a soft-hearted person has for captive gorillas is not misplaced," says Miss Ellen Velvin in "From Jungle to Zoo."

"Many gorillas have been captives, but in spite of the greatest care few have lived more than a comparatively short time. There seems to be no particular ailment from which they suffer—nothing except intense homesickness. They grieve themselves to death."

"All the anthropoid or manlike apes, such as gorillas, orang-outangs and chimpanzees, are extremely sensitive to surroundings and environments. In order to keep these big apes in good health it is absolutely necessary to give them plenty of company, either of their own kind or of men—anything, in fact, to relieve the tedium of captivity, which they undoubtedly feel. When a chimpanzee gets a new companion he goes into the wildest state of excitement; he thumps the floor and walls, scampers round his cage, and screams with delight."

The Indians' Calendar.

The following account of how the Indians used to keep track of the seasons is told by a veteran chief in Canada. The names corresponding with the names of the months were:

April—Frog moon.
May—Sprouting of green leaves and grass.
June—Egg (duck) moon.
July—Moulting (duck's) moon.
August—Flying (duck's) moon.
September—Running of the deer.
October—Fall moon.
November—Misty moon.
December—Clear, frosty moon.
January—Wolf moon.
February—Eagle moon.
March—Goose moon.

Upon being asked how they kept record of the days in each month, the chief replied that they always counted 30 to each month, and that it was an Indian's duty to keep record of them by each morning taking a stick from the days-to-come bundle and adding it to the days-past bundle. Those sticks were carefully scraped twigs of the "pussy" willows, which by their silvery catkins show the first sign of the spring season.

A writer telling about the outing of the Authors' guild at Florida, Mc. Mark Twain's birthplace, says that the "jumping frog" story was a favorite anecdote among the stories told by Twain's humorous uncle, John A. Quarles, and that Quarles brought it along with him from the backwoods of Tennessee. Some pundit dug the same tale out of ancient Greek literature not many years ago. It is no doubt impossible, but it would be highly interesting to trace the lip-to-lip journey of the story back through the colonies and across the sea to the learned clerk in Oxford or Cambridge who first translated it from classic Greek to homely English and told it over his cake and ale. Maybe it was Ben Jonson and maybe Shakespeare passed it on.

Friendship.

There must be in friendship something to distinguish it from a companionship and a countryman, from a school fellow or a gossip, from a sweetheart or a fellow traveler. Friendship may look in at any one of these doors, but it stays not anywhere till it comes to be the best thing in the world; and when we consider that one man is not better than another, neither toward God nor toward man, but by doing better and braver things we shall also see that which is most beneficent is also most excellent; and therefore those friendships must needs be most perfect where the friends can be most useful.—Jeremy Taylor.

Two Sizes Too Large.

Bix—You lost your head completely at the banquet last night.
Dix—That accounts for it. This head I've got on this morning doesn't seem to be mine, certainly.—Boston Transcript.

IMPROVING ON OLD MOTIONS

One's Accustomed Ways of Doing Things Need Not Be Accepted as Necessarily the Best.

The idea that a wooden leg or a false hand can be clapped onto a wounded man and the case dismissed with a blessing is a thing of the distant past. A wooden hand is good for very little except to look respectable in the street. The thing for which the doctors are striving is to give back to the injured man not a hand but the work of a hand.

And this opens possibilities. The work of a hand may be done in an extraordinary number of ways. Sometimes it is managed by a steel rod with tools clamped to it; sometimes by a strong iron claw. Some of the most eager thinkers are asking:

"If we are to differ from Nature at all why not differ altogether? Why not replace one arm by two steel rods, or even three, so long as they can be useful?"

Men learn that the old motions by which they have been accustomed to get things done are not necessarily the only ones. A farmer with one arm can use a shovel; he simply has an implement with a longer handle, which goes through a strap at his waist. Then the one arm does nothing but press down on the handle and the shovel of earth is lifted just as well as by the old method.

If the man wants more power he can use his knee. Large objects can be moved by one arm and the hip. A necktie can be tied by one hand and the chin. The hand can be washed by the foot.

SOCIETY HAD HIGH IDEALS

Order of Fools, Founded in 1381, Was Not by Any Means What Its Name Would Indicate.

On November 12, 1381, the association known as The Order of Fools was said to have been founded by Adolphus, count of Cleves, under the title, "D'Order Van't Gecken Geselschap." Though bearing a designationavoring too strongly of contempt, the members of this order were composed of noblemen and gentlemen of the highest rank and renown, who in this way formed themselves into a body for humane and charitable purposes. They were in no way connected with the Feast of Fools and similar absurdities of medieval times. They were not dissimilar to the Odd Fellows, Foresters and other similar organizations of the present day, which include within their sphere of operations, benevolent and useful as well as convivial and social objects.

The insignia borne by the knights of this order consisted of a fester or a fool, embrodered on the left side of their mantles and depicted dressed in red and silver vest, with a cap and bells on his head, yellow stockings, a cap filled with fruits in his right hand, and in his left, a gold key, as a symbol of the affection which ought to exist among the members of the society. They met once a year at Cleves on the first Sunday after Michaelmas day (St. Martin's day), when a grand court was held extending over seven days, and all matters relating to the welfare and conduct of the order were discussed.

Blackbirds Valuable.

One spring while plowing for potatoes I was followed around the lot by a flock of blackbirds, and out of curiosity I watched them to see what they were after and found that they were gathering up every grub in sight, and there were lots of them, writes a correspondent of the Rural New Yorker. A neighbor's boy came over where I was at work, and on seeing the birds started to drive them off. I stopped him and showed him what they were doing. He thought that it would pay me to feed the birds so as to keep them on the job. There were enough grubs in sight to have spoiled a good lot of potatoes. Yesterday (August 29) I pulled up a hill and found a grub and where he had eaten out one-quarter of the inside of a potato.

Windsor Castle.

Windsor castle is near the town of Windsor, in Berkshire, England, 23 miles from London. Windsor is one of the most ancient towns in England, dating from the early middle ages. The castle was erected by William the Conqueror. It was originally the site of a Roman settlement and has figured in English history in many picturesque and tragic ways. Many of the kings of England are buried beneath the royal chapel at Windsor, including King Edward VII, who was buried there in May, 1910. The castle, surrounded by spacious and magnificent grounds, has been the chief residence of English sovereigns for many centuries.

The "Wind-Month."

November was styled by the ancient Saxons as wind-month, from the gales which are so prevalent at this season of the year, and which made them beach their boats and cease almost entirely from maritime operations. It bore also the name of the bloody month, from the circumstance of its being customary to slaughter great numbers of cattle, to be salted for the winter. November is the eleventh month of the year, although its name would indicate that it was the ninth month. This is accounted for by the change from the old calendar, which began in March and not in January, as our present calendar does.

SMALL SUMS WORTH SAVING

How Amounts That Seem Insignificant Pile Up Into Figures That Are Impressive.

A great French banker was once asked the secret of French thrift, and he replied, "Compound interest." Just as constant waste, even in little things, may change one's life from success to failure, so the steady saving of money will eventually bring independence, if not actual wealth.

Let us analyze the statements made by the Frenchman.

There are very few people who cannot, without any inconvenience whatever, lay aside 10 cents a day. Within ten years one's daily savings of this insignificant amount will amount to $365, in addition to $90.36 compound interest, making a total of $455.36 to show for one's saving just 10 cents a day for ten years.

By saving 15 cents a day for ten years, with interest compounded at 4 per cent, one will have the comfortable sum of $668.18; 20 cents a day will net $890.99. Save 50 cents a day for ten years and you will have $2,227.73. A dollar a day will give you a total of $4,455.74 for the ten-year period. All these figures are based on the savings being put out at 4 per cent compound interest.

Look back over the last ten years of your life today. Be honest with yourself! Look facts squarely in the face! Could you not have saved 50 cents a day, or a quarter a day, or possibly a dollar a day?

It might have pinched you, now and then, to do so; it might have meant the surrender of a few good times, a few luxuries or extravagances. But it would have meant a substantial sum for you—something that would add immeasurably to your poise, peace of mind and self-confidence.—S. W. Straus in Thrift Magazine.

UNIQUE IN DECORATIVE IDEAS

Praise Must Be Awarded Individuals Who Have "Sprung" Something New on Old World.

A famous prima donna had two rooms of her town house decorated with what she called, "The records of din and dinner."

To be translated, this meant that her bedroom was papered with leaves of music from the operas in which she had won fame and fortune, and that her dining room was similarly decorated with the hotel bills she had collected—and paid—in every country and continent. A wealthy young woman had many admirers, either for herself or her possessions, and received piles of love letters. She decided to make a dado of them in her special sanctum. For months it became quite a society function to sit on the floor and read this lady's dado aloud.

The Tenderloin club at London possesses two wonderfully decorated rooms. The card room is decorated with 6,000 playing cards arranged in every conceivable order; and very well they look.

Another room in the club is papered with theater tickets, completed with a cornice of champagne corks all round the room. What a lot of "Won't-go-home-till-mornings" those silent corks could repeat had each a tongue!

Learning to Drum.

How Haydn learned to beat a drum and the preservation of the first one he played make an amusing story. There was to be a great church festival, including a procession through the streets in which the choristers were as a matter of course to take part, but the drummer falling ill, no one could be found to take his place until the director called for Joseph Haydn, showed him how to make the stroke and left him alone. Joseph found a meal tub, stretched a cloth over the top, set it on a stool and began to drum away with such vigor that the stool was soon overturned and himself covered with meal. But the stroke was learned and the spectators of the procession found their gravity unduly taxed by the sight of a little fellow of six years beating a big drum carried before him by a hunch-back, since a bearer of ordinary stature would have raised the instrument far out of the drummer's reach. The drum used on that occasion by Haydn is still preserved in the choir of the church at Hamburg.

"Oh, Hannah!"

One of our "Indian" names loses some of its flavor of romance under the investigation of Will G. Steel, gazetteer, in Steel Points. He says that the musical name of Ne-wan-nah, in Clatsop county, Oregon, was derived from the circumstances that a pioneer of the place who employed several men also had a daughter named Hannah.

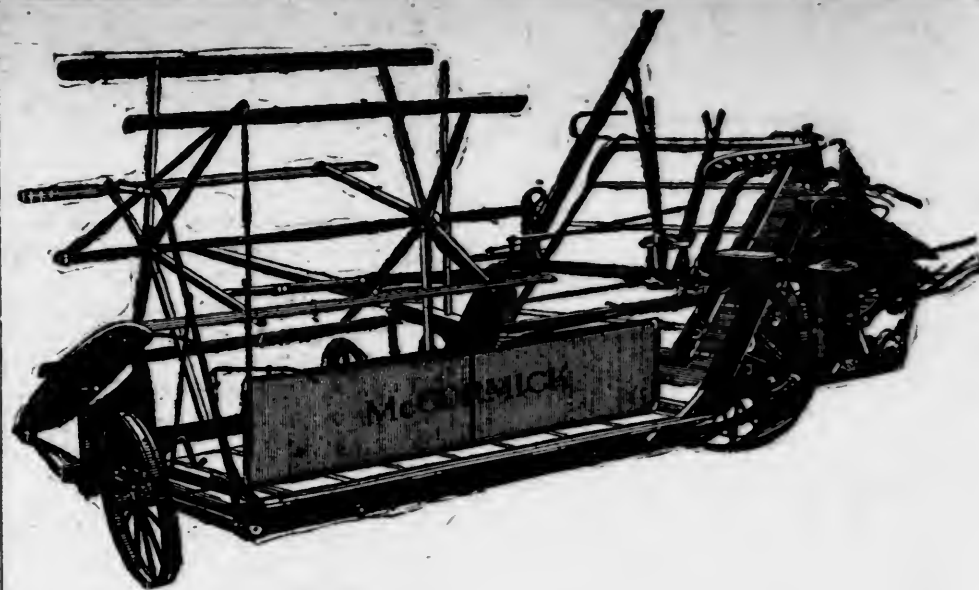

One of the men presented her with a hat, which she did not appreciate, and his fellow workers made sport of him by calling to one another in his presence, "Oh, Hannah." The term, Mr. Steel finds, finally became attached to the stream as O'Hannah, subsequently becoming Newannah. The word is also said to be Indian for "waterfall," but probably this is only a coincidence, for Mr. Steel gives full credence to the "Oh, Hannah" version.

At Last.

The nice young man, opening up a conversation with the lady of his affections:

"I made a perfect fool of myself today!"

"There, I knew you would make something of yourself if you only tried long enough!" was the startling response.

R. R. CONDUCTOR WELL SATISFIED

Jackson Says He'll Guarantee Trutona to Relieve Run Down Condition.

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 30.—A. Jackson, passenger conductor in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad for many years, who lives at 220 North Eighteenth street, Louisville, enthusiastically tells how he gained relief after eleven years' suffering. He said recently:

"I desire to express my appreciation of the wonderful merit of your medicine, Trutona. After taking Trutona for two weeks, I feel like a new man. I had been suffering from neuritis and general debility for eleven years. I eat heartily now, and sleep, which for several years was virtually a stranger to me, comes easy now."

"I can recommend Trutona to anyone suffering from a run down system and I would not hesitate to guarantee it to restore them to their health."

Mr. Jackson's case is not an exceptional one, but is typical of the remarkable work Trutona is doing in thousands of cases throughout Kentucky. The perfect tonic has proven to be unsurpassed in the treatment of stomach, bowel and liver troubles, nervousness and the like.

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Paris at the drug store of G. S. Varden & Son.

A PARADOX OF FLYING.

Captain Jack Alcock, speaking of the experiences of himself and his navigator, Lieutenant Arthur W. Brown, in their non-stop flight from St. Johns, Newfoundland, to Clifden, Galway, told how the crew of the biplane were surprised to find that part of the time they had been going along upside down at a clip of 120 miles an hour.

This detail of new travel is almost as fantastic as the story of adventure, involving anthropophagi and men whose heads do grow beneath their shoulders, that caught the fancy of one of Shakespeare's most interesting heroines.

It is an upside-down world that the airman works in. While he is aloft the aviator is in a little universe of his own, in which the law of gravitation, while not eliminated, is at least suspended more or less.

The flyer, though his machine may be pointing one wing straight at the ground, or while its tail or nose may be in that direction, or while he is looping the loop, always has the sensation of being on a level keel, as seafaring men would say. If he is able to see the ground, spread below like a drawing by Mr. Nevinson, he gets the impression that the good old solid earth is performing all sorts of tricks and altering its position toward him, now swinging to port or starboard and now actually getting above his head and looking down upon him in a perfect ridiculous way.

Captain Alcock and his companion before hopping on land again must have sighted the Arran Islands, in Galway Bay, where the inhabitants use the old corrach, a wicker boat covered with skin and dating from the dawn of history. Thus the machine up above and the crude craft below on the water illustrated the beginning and the last word of man's struggle with the elements.

DR. JAMES S. MONTGOMERY.

The distinguished pastor of the great Calvary M. E. Church of Washington, D. C., nationally known as a preacher and lecturer. He lectures here on the fourth afternoon of the Chautauqua. His subject is "The Voice of the New Age," an eloquent plea for practical Christianity in the world today. In his youth Doctor Montgomery received training for the stage which accounts for much of his remarkable power over an audience.

Not a Modern Gun.

"What were you going to do with this revolver?" asked Walter Pritchard, judge of city court.

"Shoot rabbits," replied Abe McMurray, colored, age seventeen, 356 Fayette street, who was on trial charged with carrying concealed weapons.

The judge examined the weapon, which was a small one, and noticed that the barrel would not revolve automatically. He called the defendant's attention to this fact, and was told that it would revolve if turned by hand.

The judge still appeared undecided, then finally remarked: "If this was a real gun I would fine you $100 and costs, but since it is only about half a gun I will make the fine just half the usual amount." Then he wrote $50 and costs across the face of the affidavit.—Indianapolis News.

Missouri Mule Always There.

The Missouri mule was in the war long before the Missouri soldier entered it. The declaration of war was made for him in 1914, two years and a half before Pershing and the thousands of other Missourians got their orders to wheel into line. He had made a brilliant record there before their appearance. But, according to the London advices, he seems to have felt the impulse of Missouri behind him at the last, for it is written: "The mule shared in the big British advances on the western front this fall and proved his grit and worth by keeping right up with the rapidly advancing artillery." That is a Missouri characteristic.

R. M. CALDWELL.

Quite a number of our citizens visited Lexington, Friday Saturday and Monday, before the lid went on, many of them bringing back some of the "Oh-Be-Joyful" for future use.

Mrs. Mattie Hawes received a telegram Monday telling of the death in Alhambra, California, of her aunt, Mrs. Martha Savage. The message stated that Mrs. Savage had been struck by a street car on Friday, death resulting from her injuries on Saturday. She was a native of Millersburg, where she had spent the larger part of her life. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alex Miller. She was the widow of William H. Savage, with whom, years ago, she conducted the Millersburg Female College, which they later sold to Dr. Gould. Mr. and Mrs.

Savage moved to Mt. Sterling, from there to Texas, and later to California. She is survived by three sons, Mr. Walter Savage, of New Orleans, William, of California, and Alhambra, California. The funeral and burial was held in that city yesterday.

Col. William Miller Layson, aged seventy-five, one of Millersburg's most prominent and highly-respected citizens, died at his home near this place, at eight o'clock Sunday night, after a lingering illness of heart trouble and kidney disease. While his death was not totally unexpected, it was not thought that it would occur so soon.

Col. Layson was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Zed Layson, his mother being a granddaughter of Mr. John Miller, founder of the city of Millersburg and one of the pioneers of Kentucky. Col. Layson was a successful business man and a farmer, having amassed a large fortune. He was a confederate veteran, having served the full four years of the Civil War in the command of Gen. John Morgan. At the time of his death he was a director in the Deposit Bank of Carlisle and was President of the Millersburg Cemetery Company. He was a life-long member of the Millersburg Presbyterian church, and for a number of years held the office of deacon in the church. He was married early in life to Miss Margaret Orr. To this union there was born six children, Dr. C. H. Layson, of Fayetteville, Ark.; Mr. C. B. Layson, of Millersburg; Mrs. J. M. Caldwell, of Paris, and Mrs. J. P. Redmon, of Millersburg. Mrs. Layson and two children preceded him to the grave several years ago. He is survived by one half-brother, Mr. Edward Layson, of New Mexico.

The funeral will be held at the family residence at ten o'clock this (Tuesday) morning. Services will be conducted by Rev. Walter Morton. The burial will follow on the family lot in the Millersburg Cemetery. The pallbearers will be: Active—James Butler, Oscar Rankin, Albert Moffett, Thos. Brown, Horace Purdy, Chas. Martin, Honorary—Horace M. Taylor, Martin Bowles, Granville Allen, E. P. Thomason, Harry James, John Ross, Jas. Carpenter, A. C. Ball.

DEATHS.

CASSIDY.

—Mr. Warren Edward Cassidy, aged fifty-seven, a resident of Paris for several years, died at the Massie Memorial Hospital, in this city, Sunday at noon, of Bright's disease. He was removed from his home on West street several days ago to the hospital.

Mr. Cassidy is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Calvert Shaw, of Millersburg; two sons, Ola and Clarence Cassidy, the latter doorkeeper at the Paris Grand and the Alamo; and one brother, Mr. John Cassidy, of Carlisle.

The body was taken to Nicholas county, where the funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at three o'clock, in the Rose Hill church, followed by burial in the Rose Hill Cemetery.

BARNES.

—Mention of the fact that Mrs. C. P. Barnes had died at her home in Kansas City, Mo., after a short illness, would not mean much to the people of Paris, but to those who knew her in the early days of her womanhood as Miss Sallie Short, at one time one of the most popular teachers in the old Paris Public School, it will be the cause of the most sincere regret.

Mrs. Barnes was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Short, who for years occupied the old home at the corner of Main and Second street, recently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Napier, and now owned by the Mammoth Garage Co., of Lexington. Possessed of womanly virtues and accomplishments of an unusually high order she endeared herself to all who had the good fortune to be under her tuition, and there are to-day hundreds in the city of Paris and the county of Bourbon, former pupils, who will recall with pleasure the many happy days they spent in their school days when "Miss Sallie" dispensed knowledge and justice unsparingly. Her memory will be ever revered by those who knew her best. While in Louisville several years ago the writer called on Mrs. Barnes, who was at that time the head of one of the most prosperous jewelry establishments in the West. Mrs. Barnes was delighted to talk of the old days in Paris, and made inquiries regarding the welfare of all the "old boys and girls" whom she could remember.

Mrs. Barnes was one of the foremost club women in State. In addition to being president of the Louisville Women's Club and organizer of the Monday Afternoon Club, Mrs. Barnes was State Chairman of Education and Recording Secretary of the General Federation in 1898, was honorary vice-president of the General Federation in 1916, and was treasurer of the Pioneer Workers from the inception of the order.

Mrs. Barnes' only surviving relative is Mrs. Florence Short Hanly, of Kansas City, at whose home she died.

Here's a Good Thing in Oil

BUY NOW DON'T WAIT

W. S. Dudley Oil and Gas Co.

(Incorporated)

16,000 Acres
$250,000 Capital Stock
Shares $1.00 Each

Statement of the W. S. Dudley Oil and Gas Co. By Its President

For some time past myself and associates have been selecting and acquiring oil and gas leases in Magoffin, Perry, Breathitt, Leslie, Clay, Owsley and Knott counties, Kentucky, to-wit:

Magoffin	4,623 acres	Perry	2,860 acres
Leslie	4,205 acres	Owsley	250 acres
Clay	1,305 acres	Knott	2,525 acres
Breathitt			256 acres

We have taken the precaution to have the titles and acreage approved by lawyers and engineers familiar with the titles and acreage in the respective localities.

We acquired these leases in part on the report of geologists, and in localities close to where drilling is now being done, and also where we have good reason to believe that drilling will shortly be started.

We have reliable information that contracts have been executed for drilling more than thirty wells on lands adjacent to or near some leases owned by this company; work has already begun under some of these contracts. There is now a well good for 50 barrels on a tract adjoining a 350 acre lease owned by this company; another good one on a tract adjoining a 500 acre lease of this company; a good flowing well was brought in on a tract adjoining a 115 acre tract of this company. We confidently expect many more good wells to come in on lands adjacent to these owned by this company.

The acreage of the leases thus acquired approximate 16,000 acres, which have been sold and conveyed to the W. S. Dudley Oil & Gas Company at $7.50 per acre, for which the various grantors have taken stock in the company at par.

The authorized Capital Stock of this company is $250,000.00, of the par value of One Dollar ($1.00) per share, and it is the policy of the company to sell $100,000.00 of this stock at the present time, for the purpose of protecting and developing the property, which money will be economically and conservatively expended.

This stock is sold at par without any commission.

Mr. G. P. Morison, formerly of Knoxville, Tenn., now of Lexington, is Vice-President and General Manager. He has had long experience in development work, and is a successful business man, being a man of high standing, and the one-half owner of the Marlan Coal Co., located on the property of the Kentucky River Coal Corporation on Rockhouse Creek, in Letcher County, Ky.

Mr. Richard Godson, Attorney, of Midway, is Secretary and Treasurer.

W. S. Dudley is President.

The three above named gentlemen, together with C. L. Ryley, of the C. L. Ryley Coal Company, of Lexington, and W. O. Davis, of Versailles, Ky., General Counsel of the Kentucky River Coal Corporation, compose the Board of Directors.

We want the public to fully understand, before purchasing this stock, that this is a venture pure and simple, as are all companies formed for the purpose of drilling oil.

The Secretary and Treasurer will keep an accurate account of all money received and expended, and the books of the company will be open to the inspection of stockholders at all times. He will receive for his services a fair salary, as will also the Vice-President and General Manager. The President will not receive any salary until such time as the business of the company will take more of his time than he now expects to devote to it, or until it is on a dividend basis.

The President of this company has been instrumental in developing three oil prospects, one in Estill County, upon which there were twenty-one wells drilled and oil in all, and two properties on Big Sinking Creek in Lee County. One has been developed and of the nineteen wells drilled, they were all oil wells. The other has nine wells drilled and all oil wells, there is room for about twenty more wells on this property, which are now being drilled, and he is not expecting a dry hole. He knows nothing about oil, nor does he know that there is a barrel of oil on the 16,000 acres owned by this company, but he believes there is a fair chance to find some where in Eastern Kentucky another oil pool, and the idea in taking up this acreage and having it scattered as it is, and getting it as close in as possible to where drilling is being done, is to be the owner of leases wherever that pool may be discovered, and to have the money in the treasury to immediately start drilling, and if not so fortunate as to have leases where the pool may be found then to buy acreage near that pool and start development.

The offices of this company are located at 703 First & City National Building, Lexington, Ky., where the stock will be for sale to the public to the amount of $100,000. Checks should be made payable to the W. S. Dudley Oil and Gas Company.
